TIPS & TECHNIQUES

PRIMER VS. SEALER

A sealer is used to coat stains and keep them from bleeding fresh paint. A primer helps new paint adhere better and helps keep the color and sheen uniform. If you are changing colors and plan two coats, make the first coat a primer that's tinted to match the final coat. If you are repainting a room with the same color, you need to prime only areas that have been repaired and sealed.

PRESS-ON TAPE

Have you ever peeled away masking tape only to find that the paint has seeped underneath? Masking tape only protects a surface when the seal is perfect. To make sure the tape does its job, press it in place with the flat side of a 2-inch putty knife.
